Yes Carlo, as far as I know. I'm due to catch up with my colleague that extracted the data later this week to ask him similar type questions! If there is any update then I'll let you know.

Regards,
George

Hi George

That's great, thanks for sending this through to me.

Can I just clarify to ensure I'm reading these correctly. Are these the official laybys that TS manage and there are no unofficial laybys included in this?

Thanks again George

Morning Carlo,

Please see attached. If any of this is unclear then give me a shout.

Would you be able to send me through a brief description of the timescales that you are working to for this project? It will help me keep a focus on key milestones and ensure we work to meet them.

I hope to get back to you and Alex shortly with an update re signage.

Regards,
George

Thanks for your email Carlo. We should have the data to hand and I have submitted a request to have all the relevant information collated. Once I have this I will send it on to you.

On another note, there are a couple of projects on the go within the Park that I am also involved in so I've noted them below so that we can take a strategic overview of all the projects related to the Trunk Road if required:

- Intelligence gathering of visitor management issues within the 4 Your Park Visitor Management Zones of the National Park - Simon Jones, Director of Conservation and Visitor Operations
- Callander Landscape Partnership Scheme & Access to The Falls of Leny - Emma Martin, Callander Landscape Partnership Development Officer

George

Subject: LLTNPA - official laybys with National Park Boundary

Morning George,

I'm looking for information on which of the laybys on the trunk roads within the national park are considered official by Transport Scotland.

We are producing signage mapping and enforcement models and this information is required to offer a complete picture. Do you have anything that shows what is an official layby or which laybys are monitored?

We just need something that we can use to justify our position when it comes to enforcement and signage.

Any help you can offer is greatly appreciated.

Thanks
