Dear insert campsite owner/manager,

Loch Lomond & The Trossachs National Park Camping Management Byelaws 2017

The Loch Lomond & The Trossachs National Park Camping Management Byelaws 2017 (the "Byelaws") came into effect on 1 March 2017. The Byelaws prohibit camping in an area within certain designated management zones within the National Park unless the area has been exempted from the camping prohibition.

As part of the process for implementation of the Byelaws, we are required to designate all of the campsites within the National Park which will be exempt from the camping prohibition under the Byelaws.

As an established provider of camping, we will designate your site as being exempt. This exemption will not have any effect on your current operations and management of your site and does not have any special requirements or conditions attached to it.

In order to exempt your site from the camping prohibition under the Byelaws, I need to identify your site boundaries, which can either cover the whole site or just the areas of the site where camping is permitted.

Enclosed is a plan which hopefully covers your site location and I would ask that if the boundary marked is incorrect you return it, marked up with the correct boundary for your campsite, to the address at the bottom of this letter or by email to campingbyelaws@lochlomond-trossachs.org

We are aware of the duplication and part duplication of labels and place names that has happened on some maps. You are not required to return the site plan with corrections to these marked on. Changes to these are outside our control and an issue that Ordnance Survey are aware of.
