All,

Suggested agenda below to steer our discussions on Monday:

Signage

- Trunk road laybys
  - Which are official and which aren't
  - What signage is permitted in each type of layby (content, size etc)
  - Overnighting policies and restrictions/would TS use the Camping Management Zone byelaws to enforce their own policies?
  - Layby ownership if not by TS/layby returns
- Trunk road signage guidance – we are waiting for mock-ups from our designers. We should be able to email those over as a presentation on Monday morning
  - TS feedback on Your Park threshold signs – branding, colours, font size, copy
  - TS feedback on suggested piggybacking solutions
- TS contractors/frameworks
  - We'd hope to use your contractors for sign production and installation; we would hope to grant money to TS to do this

Access to sites

- Right hand turns on A82 to access loch site camping permit areas
  - Safe turning areas/locations
  - Maximum distances to travel for safe turn areas
  - Signage requirements if any

- Liabilities if instructing drivers to turn against traffic
- Use of laybys for permit areas
- Maximum allowance of use of laybys for parking for permit camping
- Access to permit areas through laybys (Culag)

Regards,

George
